

“To remind siblings they are loved and not forgotten”

Having a sibling in the NICU/PICU is challenging for many reasons. Oftentimes a sibling with a brother or sister in the NICU/PICU is not allowed to visit or meet their sibling until they come home (weeks or months later). Parents have to juggle between being at home with their older child(ren) and being in the hospital with their child.

We want to recognize these children who have to wait patiently for their sibling to come home from the NICU/PICU. We will send these referrals a physical gift to help occupy them and let them know that they are loved. Referral forms can be found on our website.

www.charliesguys.org/charliespals

“To remind siblings they are loved and not forgotten”

Having a sibling in the NICU/PICU is challenging for many reasons. Oftentimes a sibling with a brother or sister in the NICU/PICU is not allowed to visit or meet their sibling until they come home (weeks or months later). Parents have to juggle between being at home with their older child(ren) and being in the hospital with their child.

We want to recognize these children who have to wait patiently for their sibling to come home from the NICU/PICU. We will send these referrals a physical gift to help occupy them and let them know that they are loved. Referral forms can be found on our website.

www.charliesguys.org/charliespals